

Sport & Society: Pay for Play

It is undeniable that college sports is a business. The question is, does it benefit everybody? What about the players?

1. Is getting a college education payment enough for college athletes?
2. Is it fair that college athletes are NOT paid for helping colleges make money?
3. Is it reasonable for the NCAA to make rules that prevent athletes from accepting direct payment, sponsorships or any other perks?
4. Should it be a requirement that athletes play a minimum of 1-3 years of college sports before they're allowed to be drafted into the NBA/NFL?
5. Do you think it would be unfair for college athletic programs to pay football/basketball players, but NOT athletes in less popular/lucrative sports?
