

Sports Activism Project

In recent years, more and more athletes have been speaking out about politics and social issues. In some cases, they are picking up where players before them left off and in other cases, they are fighting for new forms of social, political and economic change.

As part of our look at politics and sports, you're going to pick one athlete/team who was impactful or influential in some way and create a slideshow highlighting the athlete(s) and their actions. You will present your finished project to the class.

This is an individual project (no partners.)

Select an athlete from the list below (or propose an alternative):

Step 1: RESEARCH your athlete. QUESTIONS you should be able to answer about your individual:

1. Biography/background:
  - a. Who are they? What are they famous for? (Sports fame, teams played on, years of play, accomplishments, etc.)
  - b. What was their issue? (Give details on the issue(s) they were focused on.)
2. Connection to the time:
  - a. What was happening at the time in the US? (Related to the person/issue)
  - b. What made them get involved or feel personally connected to the issue?
3. Athlete's actions: What did they do to protest/raise attention for their issue? (Consider how their actions were connected to the issue.)
4. Athlete's influence/impact:
  - a. How did fans, players and the league respond to their protest? (Consider how the athlete was viewed BEFORE / AFTER their protest. Were people supportive? If not, what penalty did they face for their protest?)
  - b. What impact in the short term did the athlete have on the issue they were protesting?
5. Athlete's legacy: What was their legacy or lasting impact? (What, if anything, changed long term because of their activism? How do people remember the athlete today? How did they change things for people who came after them?)= =

SOURCES: You must use a minimum of 3 sources.

- Good web-based resources to consider: ESPN, Sports Illustrated, The Players' Tribune, Deadspin.
- At least 1 of your sources must be drawn from the L-S databases. Good resources to consider: Biography in Context (GALE), Pop Culture Universe, U.S. History in Context
- You do need a bibliography so make sure to keep track of your sources when you are researching!

Step 2: Create a Google slideshow presentation with the information in your notes. Here's a proposed slide set up:

- Slide 1: title slide (athlete's name & include at least 1 picture)
- = Slide 2-3: biography/background on the athlete & issue
  - Who are they and what were they famous for? (Include a short video clip showing them in action doing their sport)
  - Details on the issue (Include at least 1 picture)
- = Slide 4-5: connection to the time (Include at least 1 picture)
  - What was happening at the time in the US? (Include 2-3 pictures)
  - Athlete's connection to this issue (Include at least 1 picture)
- = Slide 6: athlete's actions
  - What did they do to protest/raise attention for their issue? (Include a picture or, if possible, a short video clip showing their activism.)
- = Slide 7-8: athlete's influence/impact
  - How did fans, players and the league respond to their protest? (Include 1-2 pictures)
  - What impact did the athlete have on the issue? (Include at least 1 picture)
- = Slide 9: legacy (What was their lasting impact? Include 1 picture)
- = Slide 10: bibliography – cite text sources only.

Step 3: Attach your finished presentation to the assignment in Google Classroom and turn it in.
